NEW YORK, NY March 14, 2022 – The Mice War, a dazzling and heartfelt animated feature film created by Grammy-nominated composer and lyricist David Chesky, is now available for viewing on Amazon.

Featuring a stellar cast, including Gregory Jbara (Blue Bloods on CBS; Tony Award winner for Billy Elliot) as the warmonger General Khan, Tony Award nominee Alison Fraser as Lucy the loveable sea monster; Rock of Ages star Mitchell Jarvis plays the narrator, The Mice War conveys a powerful message that war is never the answer and that we need to learn to resolve conflicts peacefully.

Based on Chesky's 2007 children's opera of the same name, The Mice War tells the story of Albert, a young mouse who finds himself caught in the middle of a war between the Blue Mice of the North and the Red Mice of the South. Ultimately, the mice learn that if they are to have any hope of surviving as a species, they must learn to accept one another's differences.

"The message couldn't be more important, and I sincerely hope that everyone will see it, and that parents and teachers will talk to their kids about it. If they learn at an early age about the foolishness and cruelty of war, maybe they won't make the same mistakes that we did." says Chesky

Megan Mitchell, a second-grade educator, was one of the who previewed the movie with her students in the classroom. "My students are chomping at the bit to see the movie again. I can't stop talking to other teachers about the impact I have seen it have on my students and my children."

Chesky added, "War is no longer a distant story that children only hear about or see on TV and video games. War is extending into their homes and schools, and it cannot be measured how far this will go."

The Mice War shows in the most childlike, comedic, and entertaining manner, a manner that children will understand with their own child's hearts is that war is absurd. War is stupid. Human life is the most important core value. And, of course, all this and more is demonstrated in a delightful and wondrous way.
